WHY MAXBAT™ KICKS ASH?

DEDICATION TO THE GAME

MaxBat is dedicated to the great game of baseball and the millions who play it. We manufacture professional grade bats from a superior wood selection. Our meticulous craftsmanship and engineering produces a bat with great balance, tremendous power, and outstanding feel. MaxBat is one of the most popular bats in professional, amateur and youth baseball worldwide. We do not compromise on wood quality, finish quality, or service. Unlike many other bat brands, your custom MaxBat is manufactured from start to finish right here by us in our state-of-the-art facility in Brooten, Minnesota. Only the best wood with the best grain can become a MaxBat.

THE BATS

Maple is without a doubt the wood of choice throughout all levels of baseball because of its strength and durability. However, not all maple is the same. MaxBat uses only the strongest and hardest of hardwoods, grown in regions of the globe that produce the absolute best maple available. Only the straightest grained maple with virtually zero defects in the stock can be used in MaxBat production. In fact, the raw materials used to make our bats are the most coveted in the industry and are absolutely worth the investment.

In order to meet the demands of all of our players, MaxBat has added Yellow Birch and Northern White Ash to our wood species list. This does not mean that our quality standards have changed. We will not compromise on wood quality just to save a few dollars. Icons denote which models are available in each species. Please call if you have a specific question about availability of species and models.

YOUR BAT, CUSTOM MADE TO YOUR SPECIFICATIONS

AVAILABLE WOOD SPECIES

ROCK MAPLE

Rock Maple continues to be the most popular wood species used for bat production, and at MaxBat, we only use the best. Because maple is such an extremely hard and dense wood, players often comment that the ball jumps off the barrel of their maple bat like no other. Maple creates bats that are extremely hard, with little or no flex.

YELLOW BIRCH

Yellow Birch is a fibrous hardwood that many players prefer because in their words "is the perfect combination between Maple and Ash". This hardwood is a shade lighter than its maple counterpart, which allows us to utilize this species when turning full barreled bats that require a lighter weight.

NORTHERN WHITE ASH

Northern Ash had been the preferred hardwood used for bat production for close to a century, before Maple hit the scene in the late '90s. Ash is still a popular choice among baseball players because of its ability to flex more than other hardwoods. Players who prefer Ash typically choose this species for its flexibility at the point of contact with the baseball, producing what some describe as a springboard effect.

WHO'S SWINGIN' A MAXBAT

WIL MYERS
TOP PROSPECT

"The very first time I used a MaxBat was at the Perfect Game Underclass Showcase in Ft. Myers, FL during my junior year of high school. The ball came off the MaxBats harder than any other wood bat that I had ever swung before, and from that point forward it's been the only bat I've used. Every Perfect Game event that I went to I made sure to buy a MaxBat to use for the tournament. After the success and comfort I've had with MaxBats in both amateur and professional baseball, it's the only bat I'll swing."

"I started using MaxBat in 2010 and continue to use them today. The wood is solid and the cut is always consistent."

All Pro Series Bats are custom made to your specifications, including weight, color and engraving, see page 3 for details. The models shown are representative of the 300+ models available at MaxBat. Call for additional details.

WHO'S SWINGIN' A MAXBAT

YASMANI GRANDAL
TOP PROSPECT

"I got my hands on my first MaxBat shortly after I was drafted. The fast turnaround time and the quality of the wood have impressed me ever since. I personally swing the 356 in ash, which is durable and does not flake. The staff is knowledgeable and the customer service is awesome. Swinging a great product like MaxBat is going to help me be successful at the plate!"

GREG ROHAN

"I believe that having trust in your bat is one of the most important aspects a hitter has to deal with. Confidence is a major part of hitting and a lot of that starts with what bat I use. Having swung many different bat brands, I never really found one that felt perfect to me. When I first swung a MaxBat, I was amazed with how hard the wood was and how the ball felt coming off the bat. Between the unique balance and hardness that MaxBat offers, I put full trust and faith in using their bats."

Chris Marrero

"Ever since I started using MaxBat, I've never even thought of using another brand. And why would I? The bats are always the hardest and most balanced, and that's extremely important to me. The people at MaxBat obviously care about the players who use their bats, because I get great service and always get my MaxBats on time."

DeAngelo Mack

"I choose to swing MaxBat because of their superior product, customer service, and ability to mix and match so many different models. Most players are only familiar with their maple, but their ash is incredible and doesn't flake like other brands. MaxBat is definitely a company that I put my trust in, as it is undeniably the best bat on the market."

Trevor Plouffe

"I've been swinging MaxBats since day one of my pro career. No other bat company matches the quality and consistency of their maple and ash. My teammates and I used MaxBats when defeating the Cubans in the gold medal game of the 2009 IBAF World Cup. Honestly, there is simply no better bat on the market."

Nate Freiman

"MaxBats continue to outperform and outlast any other brand I've ever used. They simply have more pop and are made from the best wood, allowing for more doubles and homeruns. Many of my teammates have switched to MaxBat because of this and for their outstanding customer service. I could not be happier with MaxBat, and I look forward to swinging them throughout my career."

Chris Owings

"I was 16 when I purchased my first MaxBat, and there was an immediate difference in the way the ball came off the barrel. I actually hit a homerun in my first game with it, and now MaxBat is the only bat I'll use in my professional career. The service is great and I know I'm going to get my bats fast too."

Kyle Skipworth

"I'm always amazed at the performance I get out of my MaxBats. No other bat provides the strength, durability, and balance of MaxBat, and they are the only bats that I'll use."

Nick Weglarz

"The ball jumps off the MaxBat better than anything I've ever used. It's a good feeling knowing that every time I walk up to the plate I have the best bat on the market in my hands."

Blake Kelso

"MaxBats are the hardest and most reliable wood bats on the market. I will never use a different bat."

Mike McDade

"MaxBats are by far the best quality bat that I have used in my professional career. There is a huge difference in the ball coming off the barrel of a MaxBat than any other brand. I love these bats and highly recommend them."
